

Launch of the Irish Sustainable Business Exhibition announced

Faversham House Group Ltd, organiser of the well established Irish Water Exhibition and Irish Recycling & Waste Exhibition is delighted to announce the launch of the Irish Sustainable Business Exhibition on 13-14 October 2010.

The trade exhibition will be running alongside the water and waste shows at Simmonscourt, Dublin, forming the biggest environmental event on the island: Resource Ireland.

Aimed at all businesses wanting to reduce their environmental, water and carbon footprints, the Irish Sustainable Business Exhibition will offer advice, case studies and best practice guides and feature suppliers of sustainable products and services. The launch of the event in Ireland follows the inaugural sister event Sustainable Business – The Event, attracting more than 4,000 visitors in its first year in the UK in May 2009. The exhibition will offer a platform to discuss climate change policies and legislation, carbon tax models, carbon footprinting and labeling and many other relevant topics with peers, industry experts and the public sector.

The high-level seminar programme held at the Irish Sustainable Business Exhibition will be free to attend for all visitors to Resource Ireland. It will address topics from carbon reduction and sustainability strategies over climate change and green transport to behavioural change and communication. If you want to get involved in the seminar programme or want to see certain topics addressed, please don't hesitate to let the organiser know at resourceireland@fav-house.com.

The Irish Water Exhibition, also part of Resource Ireland will again stage a two day workshop for water professionals organised and hosted by ESAI. Details on topics and speakers will be available in the coming months and published on the event's and ESAI websites.

As in previous years, CIWM Ireland and CRE will be organizing a CPD accredited seminar programme for recycling and waste professionals, to be held within the Waste Theatre at the Irish Recycling & Waste Exhibition.

More information about the free seminars running at the show and exhibitors booked will be released in the coming months on www.resourceireland.net. If you are interested in exhibiting or speaking at Resource Ireland, please contact Faversham House Group Ltd on freecall 1800 927 160.

About Resource Ireland

Resource Ireland is the islands leading environmental event providing environmental and sustainability professionals access to suppliers of environmental products and services, free seminars and great networking opportunities all under one roof.

Resource Ireland comprises of the three trade exhibitions:

Irish Water Exhibition – Launched in the 1970s, the Irish Water Exhibition is the longest standing water event in the Irish market. It has grown from a small road show to a well established trade exhibition attracting 100 exhibitors each year.

Irish Recycling & Waste Exhibition – Ireland's premier waste and recycling trade show, launched alongside the Irish Water Exhibition in 2001. The exhibition is supported by the Irish Composting

Association Cre and CIWM Ireland who are both hosting free CPD accredited seminars at the show.

Irish Sustainable Business Exhibition – The latest addition to the event, this show will attract professionals from all industries interested in reducing their environmental footprint.

Despite tough economic times, Resource Ireland attracted 164 exhibitors and over 2,000 visitors in 2009.
